

The force of gravity in our work pushes the actor towards an interior ripening which expresses itself through a willingness to break through barriers, to search for a 'summit', for totality.

Note on the Workshop

I have been a student of many disciplines and been fortunate to have studied under many masters, but in terms of acting, no one has inspired me more than Ryszard Cieślak. I studied intensively with Ryszard in Poland in 1977 and 1980, and again in NY during the final year of his life. I have often been asked to share the work transmitted to me from him, the basic training of The Polish Theatre Laboratory, and now at last feel compelled to do so. For me. And for Ryszard.
